so a chinese-singaporean man accosted a indian-filipino man and a chinese-thai woman with a racist (and sexist!) diatribe about interracial dating, and Min Shan is suddenly not quite sure about the state of race relations in ■■ settle in, we got lots to talk about <https://t.co/8t5iuxo7hh> firstly... it's generally not a good idea to ask people about their "views" when it comes to bigotry.

if you want everyone to agree that the chinese man was being a racist POS... but also want to make space for bigots' views on same-sex dating.... wyd boo? <https://t.co/3OwPMgmUou> next. shan's newfound surprise, worry.

idk if he knows about how people talk about him and his race, or if his wealth, class and power protects him from that.

and just in case he thinks this is an "opposition" problem, it's not. i have receipts.

<https://t.co/Fqtlp5TVJ9>

(not to mention that the only time (that i know of, lmk) shan's ever pointed out racism against him is when he was called "black", ■)

((or that, he, and other minority MPs in his party,, are usually the ones trying to explain racism away,,,,,,,,,,,,)) anyway, the cool thing about singapore is

<https://t.co/FTd2jMzujk>

and not to make this all "gahmen bad" but... this is why the CMIO policy is bad.

for decades, people have been marrying "outside their race," for love, for religion, for messing w your numbers.

the bigots can make things difficult, but they won't win.

<https://t.co/iPmc3Z94r7>

this complexity gets flattened into nothingness, when you make them pick a race for their IC, pick a 'mother' tongue, pick what race they're applying for a flat under, pick a box to tick so you can pretend you have nice neat boxes of people.

it's been 10 years since ■■ <https://t.co/yvg0RvW55I>

Mixed-race S'poreans can have double barrelled IC category

By Dawn Tay

PARENTS of different races can now include both races in their children's registration forms, said Senior Minister of State for Home Affairs Ho Peng Kee in Parliament yesterday.

So, their children could be identified as, say, Caucasian-Chinese, or Malay-Indian.

They have to choose a dominant race - which would be listed first - for their children, Associate Professor Ho added.

For example, an Indian father and a Chinese mother who choose Chinese as their child's dominant race will register the child as being Chinese-Indian.

But what happens when, say, a Chinese-Indian marries a Caucasian-Malay?

In cases where two people with double-barrelled race classifications marry, they will have to choose two of the four races to be declared as their child's race, said Prof Ho.

identity is complex, identity is personal, but identity can also be very, very political, and very easily weaponized.

like,, for example,, Shan using a mixed-race man with an Indian name as an example of "reverse" brownface,,, <https://t.co/N8O7tmmYbg> or whatever the fuck this is?

<https://t.co/vNkRXSdmGg>

then there's this, when the Chinese man says he's "disgraced" by seeing a half-Chinese woman date outside her race.

there's no point pretending this view is limited to men of any one race though _(■)_/

<https://t.co/9JM4nysES3>

and then, of course, we have to talk about the hyper-sexualization of brown men, or why they're seen as 'predatory'.

one brown man committing a sexual offence means singaporeans get free reign to question his singaporeanness, or make comments about "ceca r*peland" dozens of cis Chinese men committing all manner of sexual harassment/abuse/violence against women?

this extends to migrant workers, who must be kept in cages far away from society, lest they "molest people and f*ck our maids" (spf did not take further action against xiaxue for this), or, y'know, have consensual sexual relationships

Brief details: Popular Instagram social influencer Xiaue posted extremely racially divisive comments on twitter in 2010. I feel threatened by her because she is trying to stir up anti-indian sentiments. She said this: "Coz they molest people and fuck our maids and leer at girls and food little india? Yeah I'm stereotyping, but fuck it if u say its not true!" This is a clear falsehood and she is clearly trying to say that construction workers are natural criminals

(i'm not even done, i was just scared of accidentally closing my tab, brb with part 2 ■)

i forgot to mention – we also saw this with Beow Tan, btw! harassing random Malay men and accusing them of "sexually harassing" her. in one video she said something like "Did the Quran teach you to molest Chinese women?" to a man just existing ■
