Howdy folks. I've got a doozy of a twisted tale to share with you on this fine Friday. It has to do with the man who cyberstalked, defamed, and doxxed me and my family. His name is Joseph Camp. He stopped harassing me a while ago when he got a new target who goes by Danesh.

1/ <https://t.co/ZLsgFXKlqY>

Those of you who have followed my work for the last year may remember I broke the news of the Epik data leak, which exposed a number of far-right websites. Among them was a doxxing site run by Joseph Camp. He harassed me for months until he started attacking Danesh.

2/ <https://t.co/XE3aJtQIKK>

Although it was confirmed that CEO of Epik, Rob Monster, had hired Joseph Camp to do "research" on certain people in the past, I was never able to confirm exactly who hired Joseph Camp to harass, dox and defame me, even if it was clear he was retaliating because of reporting.

3/ <https://t.co/uZQiFTc5VK>

Monster, YT0:17:29: Alright well you know what? I'll tell you a story about Joey Camp. So Joey Camp is... [reading the chat. Full question is from "nf84": "Can you explain who he is? I'm out of the loop"] "can you explain who he is?" So Joey Camp is a client. He runs the site YourDaddyJoey.com,⁴ which is a thorn in Chad's side. Chad, if you're listening, love you bro. I believe in you, you're a very smart man, very articulate, and very handsome, and I'm not gay. And if anybody's gay, I don't judge you either, God loves you. But very articulate, very charismatic, drops a few too many f-bombs. But that site, YourDaddyJoey, is in the business of basically outing bullies and thugs. People who engage in stuff that he considers to be unlawful. And I believe his "why" is this: as I understand it, and again I've never met him, I don't know him that well, but he once told me that his sister was killed by some antifa member because she was in the wrong place at the wrong time and ever since then he's been like a like a Batman. He's like this, like, justice warrior dude who operates by his own moral code.

Monster, YT0:19:25: Alright, so Joey, so I asked him, I said, “can you track down this guy? His name is Donny and he lives in Tampa.” And he runs a service that we rely on, and he like never pays out. And I’m like “this is really weird”. And I had heard a rumor that he’d become mixed up in drugs and was in and out of rehab. But I was like, “I just want to know he was alive!” So I said, “Joey can you help me track down this guy?” And he’s like, he says, “I’m in Tampa, I’ll get back to you in a few hours.” And then like a few hours later he sends me this note, he’s like, “yeah!” I think it was a note... I don’t know what it was, yeah note, chat, I forget what it was. Telegram, yes, Telegram. And he says “yeah, I found Don...” his name is Donny. “I found Donny, and Donny was at home.” And he had like jumped the fence of a gated community to go get to Donny, to knock the door. And it’s like, I would never condone that, right? Because there are laws, and there are like reasonable boundaries of private property, and so... but he operates based on his moral code. And I think that every now and then it’s possible that he’s a bully. I believe that I

Camp is a notorious criminal. He associates with white supremacists, fascists, and neo-Nazis. He posts racial and anti-LGBTQ slurs on his Gab account on a near daily basis. I feel safe to say that Camp is a vile, hateful, deeply sad human being who operates as an attack dog.

Camp started going after Danesh earlier this year, but the reason he went after him wasn't as obvious at the time. Recently, an interesting set of connections began to emerge. It started after Danesh identified a woman named Jennifer Couture in a video that went viral.

Who is Jennifer Couture on TikTok? Florida 'Karen' goes viral after alleged assault

Jacob Hale . Last updated: Jan 28, 2022

A TikTok has gone viral showing a Florida woman called Jennifer Couture allegedly assaulting someone outside a Dunkin Donuts — including trying to hit them with her car.

A few months later, Danesh started getting harassed, doxxed, and even stalked. Joseph Camp is the one who started the campaign, but he's notoriously difficult to track down. He claims he fled the country, but that doesn't appear to be the case.

Last week, Danesh filed a restraining order against Jennifer Couture, alleging that she has been the one responsible for financing and directing the harassment, which if true could violate the terms of Couture's probation. Yesterday, Couture filed to terminate the probation.

Danesh has compiled a significant amount of info about Couture and Camp. He alleges Couture and her husband financed the purchase of billboards, penny savers, and TV ads about Danesh seeking to harm his reputation. He also alleges they came to his hometown to take photos.

Visiting my boss's estate is always fun.

Joseph Camp's now deleted Facebook post claiming to be at his Boss' estate. During the months harassment, Joseph would film himself in the pool too. This helped match the property to Jennifer.

If Danesh is correct, this means that a handful of attorneys probably want to talk to Couture about their relationship with notorious cyberstalker and harasser, Joseph Camp. Perhaps his ostensible exile will come to an end much sooner than expected.

This morning, Joey Camp posted a link to an anonymous article published yesterday defending Couture and claiming that one person researching this, James McGibney, is trying to "get people kidnapped by the government." The timing of this clear. They feel the walls closing in.

"James McGibney a.k.a. Bullyville appears committed to getting people kidnapped by the government. Approach with caution. If his show contacts you and doesn't consider you a "victim" there is a good chance they will try to get you kidnapped by the government. I hope that he limits his efforts to just those truly beyond redemption and doesn't broaden his efforts to include those whose only offense is being friends or business associates of his enemies. Hiring someone who's threatened someone is not the same as threatening someone."

An interesting read about James McPedophile of "Bullyville".

photos, inviting them to come on over. Kinda put a wrench in that :-)

The responses to my thread are telling. Joseph Camp is a serial cyber criminal who should probably be back in Leavenworth where he belongs.

And if it's true that Jennifer Couture financed and directed Joseph Camp's latest harassment spree, which Camp has continued even after the initial filing of the restraining order, Couture may have some issues with getting her probation terminated.

If you have suffered harassment, doxxing or stalking from Joseph Camp, and you'd like to speak on it, I would recommend reading this.

One small addendum: Danesh had to rework and refile his restraining order on September 7 after the initial filing was sent back. The next day, Couture filed to terminate her probation and the anonymous article defending her appeared online.

Predictably, Joseph Camp has started texting me threats again in response to my reporting. Camp has sent me hundreds of messages, including death and rape threats.

If you'd like to support my independent journalism, which unfortunately attracts harassment from people like Joseph Camp, consider chipping in to my Patreon, or one of the options available at the link in my bio.
